THE HAWAIIAN NIGHT. The Alameda Club of Nations celebrated an Hawaiian evening recently at the residence of R. Frank Clark. A company of fifteen ladies and gentlemen were present, which included several invited guests. The interior of the house was prettily decorated with draperies of the Hawaiian colors and many flowers. A large splendidly col-ored picture of the burning lake of Kilauea stood upon a corner easel, draped in a fitting frame of three colors. The programme was an exceedingly interesting one, made so by the deep interest taken in all these club entertainments by the members, who spare no exertion to make each paper, poem, recitation or song as strictly national as pos-

Following is the programme: Map of Hawaiian Islands (crayon sketch and description of country), R. Frank Clark; Selection from Charles W. Stoddard on "Surf cess. Riding," Mrs. E. K. Taylor; Manners and customs of the Natives, P. W. Barton; Vocal quartette (music composed by W. J. Batchelder for the occasion), Mrs. Hochholzer, Mrs. Batchelder, Mr. Sheldon and Mr. Batchelder; Hawaiian volcanoes (illustrated), Mrs. R. Frank Clark; Vocal solo, "Hawaiian Melodies," Miss Gussie de Laguna; Poem (original), "Life of the first Sandwich Islanders" (Cannibals), Mrs. H. Sheldon; "Molokai and the Lepers." Mrs. P. W. Barton; Personal experience in Honolulu, Miss Anita de Laguna; vocal solo, "Tis thee I love alone," Mrs. Hochholzer; Religion and Government of the Islanders, Mrs. E. K. Taylor; "The Bogle Man" (from Sinbad), dramatized by Harry F. Sheldon; Industries of the Sandwich Islands, Mr. Hochholzer; Reading, "The Hawaiian Orchestra," Miss Alice Barton; Original Poem, H. F. Sheldon. Photographs of Sandwich Island life and various necklaces and curi osities from the islands were loaned to the club for the occasion by Miss Anita de Laguna, of Oakland. The Hawaiian songs, rendered in the native language of the Islanders, were most charmingly sung by Miss Gussie de Laguna. At the conclusion of the programme, the assembled company were seated about the long dining table and were treated to a Sandwich supper, there being several varieties of these appropriate emblems of the dusky kingdom with "cups to cheer palm leaf fans, with a miniature painting of the burning lake of Kilauea, arranged upon the face, the decorations of national colors in ribbons and the names of the eight islands of the group painted on in large letters with the brush. The fans were given exclusively to the ladies, and to the gentlemen were presented canes a foot and a half long, made of red and white striped candy, with curved handles. They were presented to each as a "sugar cane," accompanied by a printed verse on a bright background. Many neat and witty speeches were made by the guests, but Prof. Batchelder failed in ever reaching the point of his story, which was a long one, as an orchestral accompaniment produced by the entire company in unison, embracing the sounds of all the instruments of that order, trombones, bass viols, cornets, etc., kept up a subdued orchestral wail which was scorned and smiled upon by the determined joker until he fled from the supper room to the piano, and brought forth the grand melody of "Auld Carriers are not allowed to sell Lang Syne," in which all joined in papers nor to receive payments from a grand full chorus as they rose from the table and filed toward the Single copies of the DAILY ADVER- piano.
